ACE Recall Study Performance Coaching

My son is in Year 12. We decided he needed help in October last year for his GCSES as he wanted to stay on in 6th form at the school and needed to improve his grades. My wife found Adrian on Facebook. Adrian was chosen because he offers study skills, which my son wanted and better revision tools and exam techniques he needed to pass his exams.

My son got better GCSE results than we expected. We extended the coaching with Adrian to be sure my son kept this improvement up now in 6th form and give him a solid foundation for A Levels. Through coaching this past year my son has now gained a much clearer idea of what he wants to do in future, and what he must do to attain it. Adrian provides clear and sound advice, alongside solid study skills to get more done to a higher standard. Adrian's sensible tips and studying techniques seem to help our son knuckle down and do a great deal more for himself. The best about Adrian is that he believes in our son's abilities. He provides tools for all aspects of studying for my son to use, for example to help him now improve the quality of his essay-writing across different subjects.

I recommend ACE Recall Study Performance Coaching because Adrian has encouraged our son to work more efficiently and become more independent in his school studies. We will continue the coaching for another block now then see if our son still needs anymore next year before his A-Level exams.
